PATENT OFFICE NOTICES

Graphic Symbols for Patent Drawings

Rule 84(g) of the Rules of Practice in Patent Cases indicates that graphic drawing symbols and other labeled representations may be used for conventional elements where appropriate, subject to approval by the Office. Also, suitable legends may be used, or may be required, in proper cases.

The Rules of Practice pamphlet has, since the turn of the century, included a section entitled "Symbols for Draftsman" showing various symbols which may be used on patent application drawings. Although these symbols still reflect current practice they are somewhat limited in number and scope. A more complete set of symbols might be beneficial to both the Office and the public since it would foster uniformity of presentation, and more informative drawings. However, for the Office to develop and maintain a substantially complete listing of all graphic drawing symbols would be both difficult and time-consuming.

Therefore, since the American National Standards Institute Inc., 1430 Broadway, New York, N.Y., 10018, publishes a series of publications relating to graphic symbols under its Y32 and Z32 headings, the Office is calling the attention of patent applicants to these symbols for their consideration and use where appropriate in patent drawings. The below listed publications have been reviewed by the Office and the symbols therein are considered to be generally acceptable in patent drawings. Although the Office will not "approve" all of the listed symbols as a group because their use and clarity must be decided on a case-by-case basis, these publications may be used as guides when selecting graphic symbols. Overly specific symbols should be avoided. Symbols with unclear meanings should be labeled for clarification. As noted in Rule 84(g), the Office will retain final authority to approve the use of any particular symbol in any particular case.

The reviewed publications are the following:

Y32.2–1970. Graphic Symbols for Electrical and Electronics Diagram	$11.50
Y32.10–1967. Graphic Symbols for Fluid Power Diagrams	3.00
Y32.11–1961. Graphic Symbols for Process Flow Diagrams in the Petroleum and Chemical Industries	2.00
Y32.14–1962. Graphic Symbols for Logic Diagrams	4.75
Z32.2.3–1949 (R1953). Graphic Symbols for Pipe Fittings, Valves and Piping	2.00
Z32.2.4–1949 (R1953). Graphic Symbols for Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning	2.00
Z32.2.6–1950. Graphic Symbols for Heat-Power Apparatus	2.00

No change in the Rules of Practice is considered necessary at this time.

The above list of publications will be included in the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure.

RICHARD A. WAHL,
Assistant Commissioner.

May 19, 1972.

Changes in Charges for Copies

The Patent Office is announcing a change in the charges for copies of materials produced on coin-operated copiers located at Crystal Plaza. The charge will be 15¢ per page.

This change will be effective within the next 30 to 45 days due to the engineering changes necessary to accommodate the difference in number and value of coins.

The Patent Office will monitor this change for a period of six months to: (1) Evaluate effects on other services, equipment utilization, materials, and facilities; and, (2) Ensure that the new charge of 15¢ per page will enable the Patent Office to fully recover the cost of operating the copiers.

At the end of the period, the data obtained will be evaluated with a view to continuance or discontinuance of the reduced rate.

ROBERT GOTTSCHALK,
Commissioner of Patents.
